

Flexible Manufacturing Dynamic Sourcing™

Experts in Asian Manufacturing & Turnkey Supply Chain Solutions

Increased competition and globalization continues to drive companies to seek out the cost reductions and bottom-line benefits of manufacturing globally. However, many companies are not properly equipped to identify the right production facility for their product. Additionally, communicating directly with Asian factories on a daily basis can often be a frustrating process, resulting in poor execution and loss of control. A constant presence is needed to manage the relationship, maintain quality control standards and enforce production schedules.

Through Coda, companies large and small are able to derive the competitive, hassle-free advantage of global manufacturing, secure in the knowledge that Coda project managers are overseeing production and maintaining schedules, as well as quality assurance programs.

CODA RESOURCES was founded in 1947 in New York City. Since then, we have forged a sterling reputation built on solid business practices and predicated on customer service. Our goal: To provide full-service contract manufacturing, outsourcing and/or supply chain support to a wide array of American businesses.

Over the last 60 years, Coda has developed a winning formula by combining the talents and skills of three generations of business-focused family members with accomplished executives/managers and staff from major U.S. firms with deep experience operating in Asia.

By integrating business activities and focusing its core competencies, Coda has created a new business model dedicated to providing multi-industry supply chain services. By providing its Flexible Manufacturing Dynamic Sourcing (FMDS) service, Coda enables its clients to go to market “better, faster and cheaper” than the competition. From its headquarters in New York City and its offices in Shenzhen, China, Coda provides quick, convenient and localized service to its clients.

Flexible Manufacturing Dynamic Sourcing™ (FMDS™)

FMDS is a model developed by Coda to achieve optimal manufacturing conditions by working with a host of owned and allied factories to meet specific production needs, and facilitate Just-In-Time (JIT) delivery of parts and components. Through FMDS, Coda has redefined the science of Just-In-Time manufacturing. Coda works with its clients to understand their exact production and delivery requirements, and then identifies the production facilities best suited to their particular needs.

CODA RESOURCES is the “conductor” in the FMDS process, working with clients to:

- Define client needs in detail
- Optimize manufacturing, sourcing, assembly and support services
- Oversee and perform quality control program
- Establish logistics/shipping arrangements
- Address customs, insurance, taxes, etc.
